Florida’s Community Health Centers deliver high-quality, community-based comprehensive health care services to all patients, regardless of their ability to pay.

With 600-plus locations statewide, Community Health Centers serve more than 1.6 million patients every year, ensuring that all Floridians receive the health care they need in a way that’s economical for taxpayers.

Providing Affordable Quality Care

Community Health Centers treat more than half a million uninsured Floridians each year, and they never turn anyone away. Through a board-approved sliding fee scale based on family size and income, they meet people’s need for high-quality comprehensive care regardless of their ability to pay. Community Health Centers are a key component to turning the curve on health quality and equity by reducing barriers and providing access to quality medical care for all Floridians.
